Long-time racer Desrochers captures Masters class

Warmer temperatures led to large spectator turnout in Vermont

(Fremont, New Hampshire, February x, 2017) - After an exciting month of races, Rock Maple Racing (RMR-XC) closed out the month of February with a tremendous turnout during this past weekend's race at Young Farms in West Glover, VT.

"The views were spectacular," series president Tara Saxton said. "And for once, having warmer weather worked out for us! We were able to have a road that followed most of the track so the spectators could walk along and follow the riders."

Newport native Rene Desrochers had a successful day taking first place in the Al's Snowmobile Masters class, which is exclusive to racers ages 50 and older, and came in close second in the Curve Industries Plus 40 class to Todd Smith of Derry, NH.

"[The race] went well. Lots of racers and lots of snow," Desrochers said, who has been snowmobiling since he was "old enough to hold onto the handlebars." Desrochers expressed his gratitude towards Saxton as well as Vice President and Race Director Glynn DeSilva, as well as Merle Young and his family for hosting the race.

"It takes good people to get racers to come out every weekend," Desrochers said. "I've seen more racers I know from snocross getting back into cross country racing because of [Rock Maple Racing]."
